

Preliminary Peace Talks To Start Sunday

U. S. Leaders Sound Word Of Caution

Czechs Free American, Norwegian

Wiesbaden, Germany, (AP)—An American jet fighter pilot and his Norwegian comrade were released yesterday by Czech Communist authorities who had held them behind the iron curtain since their forced landings near Prague nearly four weeks ago.

Lt. Luther G. Roland, of Hummelstown, Pa., was handed over to U. S. officers at the German-Czech frontier town of Waldhaus yesterday morning. He was flown to Wiesbaden for a joyous reunion with his wife, Rosemary.

Lt. Bjørn Johansen, the Norwegian pilot who was training with Roland at a U. S. jet air base in Bavaria, landed in Copenhagen, Denmark, aboard a Czech airlines plane enroute to Oslo.

Both men looked fit. But reporters were barred from interviewing them on their experiences in the Czech jail, where they were held incommunicado from the time they got lost on a routine training flight June 8 and landed near Prague.

Roland was being questioned by U. S. intelligence officers. He probably will give a news conference today.

Johansen was met at the Copenhagen airport by a Norwegian embassy official, who gave him a thick envelope and instructed him to keep mum.

U. S. Air Force officials said the two planes will be turned over to the Czechs at the border today. They are being delivered by truck.

During their imprisonment behind the iron curtain, neither American nor Norwegian diplomatic officials were permitted to see them. Not until eight days after they landed did the Czech government confirm they were being held. The United States filed a vigorous protest against their long detention and demanded their immediate release. The Czech government countered with a demand the United States pay hangar fees for the two planes.

Roland, wearing his uniform and carrying a bundle, was accompanied to the border by six Czech Army officers. As they handed him over, they shook hands with Col. William C. Council, commander of the Neuburg air base in Bavaria, and Lt. Col. Edward B. Wittmann, sent to meet the young pilot.

After the brief formality, Roland stepped into a sedan and rode away, followed by five other sedans loaded with armed American military policemen.

Magistrate Jails 'Meanest Man' For Thirty Days

Philadelphia (AP)—William Compton, 26, was labelled "the meanest man I ever met" and given a 30-day prison sentence yesterday after being accused of sending a St. Bernard dog into attacking the seeing-eye dog of a blind woman.

"That will give you time to realize what a dreadful thing you did," Magistrate Thomas Costello said as he sentenced Compton on charges of breach of peace and disorderly conduct.

Testimony at a hearing described how the St. Bernard, owned by a friend of Compton, attacked the seeing-eye dog of Mrs. Elsie Northrup on a crowded downtown street. Mrs. Northrup said she was knocked over and that the dogs scrambled over her.

Jerry, the seeing-eye dog, still showing signs of the punning he took, led his mistress from the hearing room. The St. Bernard was returned to its owner.

Helsinki, Finland, (AP)—The Communist-supported left wing front gained five seats and the conservatives lost five in the latest counting of votes yesterday in Finland's parliamentary elections. It appeared the rightist parties would keep a majority of 104 seats to 96 won by the Communists and other left-of-center parties.

American Newsman Draws 10-Year Sentence On Charge Of Spying Against Czechoslovakia

Frankfurt, Germany (AP)—Red Czechoslovakia sentenced William N. Oatis to 10 years in prison yesterday on the charge that he "spied out state secrets" while doing his job as an Associated Press correspondent behind the iron curtain.

The five-man state court which read out the sentence in Prague's sombre Pankrac prison after a two-day trial said five years of the sentence "will be suspended for good behavior." In the language of western courts this would mean Oatis would have to serve but five years and would be on probation for the five remaining years. The Czech sentence could mean possible time off for good behavior in prison.

The two U. S. embassy representatives seated at the back of the room who reported the sentencing, were unable to observe Oatis' reaction. His back was to them.

"I accept the sentence of the court and ask that I be sent somewhere where I can do some useful work," they heard him say faintly.

In New York the Associated Press declared the trial was "a sham and a mockery of elemental justice." Legitimate newswriting, the AP said, had been "twisted and distorted" into espionage, and "the Associated Press will continue by all means available, to seek Oatis' release from this cruel and unjust detention."

The State department called the trial a "ludicrous travesty of justice."

The construction of espionage charges on a reporter's normal pursuit of "accurate, correct and verified information," was part of a propaganda performance against the United States, the department said, adding:

"The arrest, the detention for months without access to friend, embassy representative, or trusted legal counsel, the forced 'confession' to fabricated charges, the shabby 'conviction' of William N. Oatis show that the present regime in Czechoslovakia fears truth, hates liberty and knows no justice."

Oatis' three Czech co-defendants, who had been employed mostly as translators in the AP office, drew harder lots. Their sentences ranged from 16 to 20 years.

Senators Blast U. S. Agencies For Failure To Buy Tungsten

Washington, (AP)—A Senate committee yesterday blasted two defense agencies for "inexcusable failure" to stockpile tungsten, a scarce metal vital in war and peace.

It said that because of bureaucratic bungling, the "free world stands on the verge of tungsten starvation." Much of the world supply has come in the past from China, now in Communist hands.

Holiday Death Toll Inches Upward Slowly

(By the Associated Press)
The Independence day traffic toll on American highways inched ahead slowly as holiday travelers started home.

Traffic accidents killed 61 persons from 6 p. m. Tuesday through twilight hours yesterday. The National Safety council predicted 130 traffic deaths by last midnight.

The toll could rise sharply with heavy homeward-bound traffic on the nation's highways.

Deaths, including traffic, drowning, fireworks, and miscellaneous totaled 90. There were 14 drownings, one death from fireworks, and 14 from miscellaneous causes.

Low temperatures over much of the country discouraged many outings and helped hold down the traffic and drowning totals.

20,000 Attend Dutch Festival

Kutztown, (AP)—A drizzly day failed to stop some 20,000 persons from crowding the Kutztown fairgrounds yesterday to open the week-long second annual Pennsylvania Dutch folk festival.

Five big tents, each with a seating capacity of 250, were used through the day to serve a full course dinner of famous Pennsylvania Dutch cooking. Women who had been busy for the last five days preparing food for the festival were amazed when it was all sold by the end of the first day.

"So feel essa—so much to eat," was the cry echoed through the fairgrounds.

The dinner, consisting of seven soups and seven sweets, included sauerbraten, wiener schnitzel and shoo fly pie to mention only a few of the delicacies.

In one tent kitchen alone, 200 chickens, 300 shoo fly pies, 150 peckens custards, five 100-pound bags of potatoes, a barrel of molasses, 100 pounds of cottage cheese and 250 loaves of homemade bread were eaten.

Former Pennsylvania Woman Found Cremated Under Circumstances That Baffle Officials

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP)—Coroner Ed Silk yesterday signed a death certificate to release the body of Mrs. Mary Reeser, 67, former Pennsylvanian whose death is mystifying Silk and the fire department.

A fire virtually cremated Mrs. Reeser in her apartment early Monday. Fire Chief Claude Nesbit said he had "never seen anything like it" in 25 years of work.

Silk said he signed the death certificate only to facilitate burial. He listed the cause as "accidental death by fire of unknown origin" and said investigation is continuing. The coroner, who is also a peace justice, has sent a scorched carpet from the room to the FBI for examination.

All that remained of the former Columbia, Pa., 170 pound woman was a left foot wearing a suede shoe, a segment of vertebrae and the skull, shrunken to the size of a teacup, the coroner reported.

It would require a constant temperature of 1,500 degrees three or four hours to cremate a body of that size, mortician Paul Thompson said.

Silk reported Mrs. Reeser apparently had been sitting in a chair in the apartment, which consisted of one large room. The chair was burned but paint on the wall four feet away was only scorched, and sheets, curtains and newspapers nearby were not burned, the coroner reported.

Mrs. Reeser lived at one end of the one-story apartment building. The owner, Mrs. P. M. Carpenter, a widow, lived at the other end. Mrs. Carpenter discovered the body when she went to deliver a telegram to Mrs. Reeser. She said she found the door handle too hot to hold and shouted to house painters across the street. They found the body burned to ashes.

Silk said the electric clock in the apartment had stopped at 4:20 a.m. but fuses were not blown. He said there was no lightning in the neighborhood that night and windows in the apartment were open.

The ashes were those of Mrs. Reeser because the shoe belonged to her, Silk said he assumed.

Downpour Forces Postponement Of Fireworks Show

The annual display of fireworks presented by the Acme Hose Fire Co. was postponed last night due to the hard rain.

They will be shown Saturday night at the same location, weather permitting according to Fire Chief Marvin Abel.

The fireworks display is one of the highlights of the firemen's annual carnival on Day St.

No Reason For Optimism About Meat

Bondurant, Iowa, (AP)—From this distance, there's not much reason yet for the housewife to become optimistic about paying cheaper prices for steaks, chuck roasts and hamburger at the corner butcher shop.

That happy day will come when the farmers begin selling cattle at a volume that will bring down prices—and the farmer isn't too sure himself what he's going to do. One reason for the beef shortage is that some farmers have quit feeding cattle entirely until they know what price controls will do to their profits. Others are holding their cattle back from the market in a "wait and see" game.

Cattle feeding is big business in this country where farmers buy calves and steers and then put the added weight on them that makes fine steaks and roasts.

Cattlemen could sell their animals to the slaughterers without the feeder process. But this would mean millions of pounds of beef lost to the market and an even greater shortage of beef.

Congress has extended price controls temporarily pending agreement on a revised measure. But it looks as though the new law will ban any further rollbacks on beef prices.

The OPS rolled back live cattle prices 10 per cent in May and proposed cuts adding up to another 9 per cent by October 1 to bring down the butcher shop price of beef.

Now that farmers have hopes the 9 per cent cut won't go into effect—they may turn loose their cattle in increasing numbers and the price may drop. Some farmers think it will perhaps for a time.

But there are many farmers who have quit the cattle-feeding business entirely until they can see what is going to happen in Washington.

World Faces Long Era Of Danger-HST

Washington (AP)—President Truman and Chief Justice Vinson joined last night in a Fourth of July warning to the nation that it will still face grave danger even if peace comes to the Korean battlefields.

The country's chief mobilizer, Charles E. Wilson, reinforced these statements with a report saying the three-year defense program "must and will continue." It must be backed, he added, with vigorous price control, price rollbacks and "stiff" taxes.

The triple call was sounded as the Truman administration fought growing opposition in Congress to its $10,000,000,000 tax increase program and the sweeping economic controls it asks. There was even some talk of slowing down defense spending if the Korean war is settled.

Mr. Truman cautioned that if it is still too early to say whether the Communist rulers really want a Korean peace. The United States, he said, must be "vigilant and ready for whatever may come."

In a Fourth of July address, the President said a Korean settlement would still leave in existence the greatest threat to world peace—the tremendous armed power of the Soviet Union.

Therefore, he added, the United States must continue to rearm rapidly, help other free nations to build defenses, restrain inflation and combat with "truth and fair dealing" Russian efforts to dominate the world by "lies, threats and coercion."

The President's 20-minute address was given at a massive Independence day celebration on the Washington monument grounds marking the 175th anniversary of the birth of America's freedom.

He said the very idea of self-government for which this country severed its political ties with England nearly two centuries ago "is being put to the test in the world today as it has never been tested before."

He struck at what he called the "prophecy of doom" and expressed confidence that the "whole great experiment that began in 1776" will succeed.

But he discussed warily the impending cease-fire talks to bring a halt to the fighting in Korea. He said that time and again the United Nations have proposed that the fighting end on the basis of U. N. principles and now, at last, the Communists leaders have offered to confer about an armistice.

"It may be that they have decided to give up their aggression in Korea," he said. "If that is true, the road to a peaceful settlement of the Korean conflict is open."

"But we cannot yet be sure that the Communist rulers have any such intention. It is still too early to say what they have in mind. I do not wish to speculate on the outcome of any meetings General Ridgway may have with the commanders on the other side."

"I hope these meetings will be successful. If they are not, it will be because the Communists do not really want peace. Meanwhile, let us keep our heads, and be vigilant and ready for whatever may come."

The President warned again that Korea is only part of a wider conflict. He said the attack on freedom is world-wide and is not simply an attack by fire and sword, but one of "subversion, threats, violence, torture, imprisonment, lies, and deceit."

Anti-American Talk Sweeps Siam

Bangkok, Thailand (AP)—A military junta that crushed last week's revolt has seized power in Thailand, stirring up bitterness that observers fear may open the doors to Communism.

These observers say three generals and an air marshal have made a figurehead of Premier Phibulsongram, America's friend. The strong man of Thailand until the Navy's attempted coup d'etat last week, Phibulsongram lost face by being kidnapped.

The four-man junta has stirred the Navy of its power, and the Navy is bitter. Observers fear Navy elements will be willing to play ball with anyone who gives them arms. That could be the Communists.

Already anti-American reports are sweeping Bangkok. The rumor-spreaders are saying "American guns killed our people."

Safe Passage Of Allied Delegation Is Requested

Tokyo, Thursday (AP)—The United Nations and the Communists today agreed officially to meet Sunday in the Kaesong area for preliminary peace talks to end the bloody Korean war.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway originally had suggested the preliminary meeting near Parallel 38 for today. The Chinese and North Korean Communists agreed to meet but set Sunday as the day. The Allied supreme commander accepted the later date today.

In his acceptance, the supreme commander requested positive assurance of safe conduct for his delegation.

The opening armistice talks will come a year and two weeks after the outbreak of the conflict.

Undersecretary Of Army Hurt As Plane Rams Into Side Of Korean Mountain

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Thursday, (AP)—Undersecretary of Army Archibald S. Alexander was injured yesterday when his light plane crashed into the side of a mountain on the eastern front.

An Eighth Army spokesman said Alexander and his pilot, Major Walter J. Borden, of San Antonio, Tex., were shaken up and bruised. Both were described as resting comfortably in a hospital today.

Another light plane carrying Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, was flying several hundred yards ahead of Alexander's plane through a mountain pass when Alexander and his pilot crashed.

The plane was demolished. An officer said the gasoline tank split open and covered Archibald with gasoline. Fortunately, there was no fire, an officer said.

The crash occurred near Chimbun in eastern Korea. Alexander has been visiting Korea as part of an inspection of the logistics in the Far East.

The Eighth Army said Alexander, Van Fleet and Lt. Gen. Edward Almond, U. S. Tenth Corps commander, visited the battleship New Jersey off the east coast yesterday afternoon.

The party returned from the ship at about 2:30 p. m. and boarded small liaison airplanes to fly to Hoengsong. Van Fleet led the flight. Alexander was second in line and Almond's plane brought up the rear.

Alexander's plane crashed in a pass often used by light aircraft. Troops in the area moved Alexander and Borden down the mountain to a point where they were evacuated by helicopter.

Reds May Have Gone Underground

New York, (AP)—Eight Communist bosses remained at large last night—believed to be seeking to reorganize the party command underground or to flee the country.

Across the nation, the FBI redoubled its search, particularly at port and border towns. But a spokesman for the Federal agency said "we have no new information."

Meet Your Neighbors

—By Horace G. Heller

Harold (Bossardville) Dennis one of those distinguished gents who celebrated a birthday anniversary on the birthday of the world's greatest democracy... congratulations...

Roger A. (Teacher) Dunning taking over next Monday as the president of East Stroudsburg's community project-minded Exchange club...

Gerald M. (Banker) Anderson replacing the Rev. Frank H. Blatt as president of Rotary today... congratulations to Frank on a great year... and best wishes to Andy for a successful term...

"I have received your reply dated 4 July. The date of 8 July for an initial meeting is acceptable. Reference is made to my message dated 3 July. In addition to the three liaison officers specified in that message, two interpreters will be sent. Positive assurance of safe conduct for this personnel is requested."

"You reply is requested. M. B. Ridgway, general United States Army, commander in chief United Nations command."

The Sunday meeting will be preliminary to the formal armistice talks scheduled for next Tuesday. Ridgway's message today was the fifth in the exchange with the Communists since his June 30 broadcast suggesting armistice talks.

An Allied foot patrol entered Kaesong yesterday afternoon without meeting any Red resistance.

An Eighth Army announcement said the infantrymen entered the city from the south but later returned to their own lines. A second patrol got within two miles of Kaesong from the west.

Kaesong, an ancient former capital of Korea, is three miles south of the 38th parallel.

On the front, most of the guns fell silent as the cease-fire talks drew nearer. In the key iron triangle area on the west-central front, half-hearted Chinese started retreating toward Pyongyang.

The new message to General Ridgway said:

"Your reply to us dated July 3 has been received. To insure efficient arrangement of the many details connected with the first meeting of the representatives of both parties, we agree to your proposal that both parties send three liaison officers to the Kaesong area to conduct the preliminary meeting."

"If you agree, we propose that the time for the meeting of liaison officers of both parties be fixed for July 8."

"We have already informed the commanders of our forces in the Kaesong area to prepare to receive your liaison officers."

Eighth Army headquarters wrapped a news blackout around the preliminary negotiations. It announced last night that correspondents will not be allowed in the Kaesong area. They will not be permitted to interview the liaison officers or pilots.

Only one pooled story will be filed from the airfield if the trip is made by air. Other stories will be sent from Seoul.

A 19-car "peace train" waited in the Seoul railroad yards to carry Allied envoys north for the main armistice talks. It is the combat train of Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, who never used it.

The Iranian suggestion to assure a continued flow of fuel to the West was said to have been offered Monday in a talk between U. S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady and Mossaddegh in Tehran. It was conveyed to Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison by U. S. Ambassador Walter S. Gifford.

It was understood to concern the proposed wording of a receipt which tanker captains would be asked to sign for oil loaded at the Abadan refinery.

British Study Iran Compromise

London (AP)—Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossaddegh has suggested through American intermediaries a stop-gap solution of the oil payment deadlock and Britain is studying the idea, official sources said yesterday.

The Iranian suggestion to assure a continued flow of fuel to the West was said to have been offered Monday in a talk between U. S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady and Mossaddegh in Tehran. It was conveyed to Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison by U. S. Ambassador Walter S. Gifford.

It was understood to concern the proposed wording of a receipt which tanker captains would be asked to sign for oil loaded at the Abadan refinery.

Reject Proposal

Belgrade, Yugoslavia (AP)—Usually responsible sources reported last night that Yugoslavia has offered to free Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac, imprisoned spiritual leader of seven million Roman Catholics here, on condition he leaves the country, but said the Vatican had rejected the proposal.

Playhouse To Observe Fifth Anniversary

Mountainhome — Mrs. Rowena Stevens, producer-manager of the Pocono Playhouse, announced last night that the fifth season anniversary of the playhouse will be celebrated next Monday night. Those attending the show that night are invited to participate in the refreshments that will be served during intermission. A large birthday cake will be provided for the occasion.

"O Mistress Mine," the gay and sophisticated comedy by Terence Rattigan will be the presentation at the Pocono Playhouse beginning Monday.

In the starring role will be Marie Paxton, English comedy actress, who appeared for three seasons on Broadway with Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, the royal pair who carried the same play to a record-breaking success on Broadway.

English-born Miss Paxton is a fifth generation member of an old theatrical family. Her father Sidney Paxton was as well known as an actor in America as in England. In addition to her appearance with the Lunts, she was featured for three seasons with Katherine Cornell in "The Three Sisters" and "Doctor's Dilemma" and was also seen in the original production of "Kind Lady," with Grace George.

The play "O Mistress Mine" is an illuminating reflection on family life and the hilarious confusion resulting from an attempt to keep matrimony under cover to avoid a diplomat's embarrassment from having it known he had married a gay and winsome widow. It is timely, provocative and a bit naughty appearing with all the other ingredients for a completely satisfying and happy evening in the theater. The play will be directed by Richard Bender and will run through Saturday, July 14. Reservations may be made by calling Creso 8401 or 8521.

Demolition Workers Cut Phone Cable

Wreckers tearing down buildings in the 600-block of Main St., at the site where the new J. J. Newberry store will be erected, accidentally sheared a telephone cable shortly after 1 p.m. Tuesday.

Approximately 100 telephones on the north side of the block and on Seventh St. between Main and Monroe St., including the Penn Stroud hotel, were out of service until Bell Telephone Co. crewmen restored the line late in the afternoon. Two teletype circuits into The Daily Record were also put out of commission by the break.

Up To Motorists

The number of children run down and sometimes killed by automobiles in the State appears to be on the rise. This is vacation time. Youngsters are more on the streets than usual. Most of them have learned from their school patrols how and when to cross streets safely. Others are too young for such a lesson.

This all adds up to the increased obligation on the motorists to have more than usual care in summer driving through settled areas. It will be a long time, if ever, before children bursting with vitality, will not rush into the traffic lanes between parked cars or indulge in some equally perilous play. The motorist must act accordingly. No speed is justified if it imperils the lives of children no matter how thoughtless or reckless they may be.

Let's Call Them Turps

When a public man of the responsibility of Controller-General Lindsay C. Warren comes to the conclusion there ought to be a rule against talking official business in saloons or at cocktail parties, it is pretty good evidence that the moral level in the Government has sunk low indeed.

Mr. Warren has revealed another chapter in the shocking volume being written in Washington about the gifts and favors passing from people doing business with the Government to Government employees.

He said employees in a regional office of the Federal Housing Administration, some time back, had accepted such things as nylons, television sets, liquor and watches from people doing business with FHA.

Testifying before a Senate committee, Mr. Warren recommended tough laws to punish bribery. That's understandable—because bribery is universally accepted as a crime.

And he advocated giving Government employees an education in how the taxpayer pays the bills. That's a long overdue part of the training of all public employees—if it will do any good.

But when the man feels it necessary to go so far as to put a curb on cocktail conversations about the public's business, he obviously is more than a little disturbed.

It's all part of a descending standard of ethics. For many of the things of which Mr. Warren complains were, strictly speaking, "within the letter of the law."

But these employees, he testified, not only failed to see any impropriety in their conduct. They actually considered accepting these gifts as "their inalienable right, a perquisite of their jobs."

Moral turpitude may be too strong a term for each conduct, for it denotes villainy and depravity. But these people at least have gone part way toward that extreme. So, to cut it short, let's call them turps.

The infiltration of these turps in the Government is resulting, say Mr. Warren's words, in "waste, profligacy and utter disregard of the public interest."

Whether or not the Senate Labor Subcommittee can write into the law a moral code of conduct which effectively will reform or remove the turps remains to be seen. But the effort is imperative.

Faster Sound

Modern telephone service is a far cry from the old days when grandpa cranked up the funny-looking contraption on the wall, and then tried to hear and be heard through it.

Now they come in streamlined shapes and, sometimes, pastel colors. The voice comes through clearly and the machinery in the central exchange gets more and more complex and automatic.

Convenient? Yes, and more than that—good business. In our economy, communications are time and money savers. And at the last count, we had 34,867,000 of the world's 60 million phones.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

If you read Jack London, Robert Service, and Stewart Edward White in your youth, you may remember the Klondike gold rush as a romantic episode in which countless adventures found millions in gold. Kathryn Winslow, in her new book, Big Pan-Out, says that wasn't the case at all. At the peak of the Klondike boom, in 1899, California was still producing twice as much gold, and later strikes in Alaska and South Africa dwarfed its output immeasurably.

During the height of the rush, however, steamboat passages from Seattle to the nearest ports south of $200 to $300, eggs sold in Dawson at three dollars apiece, and only one adventurer in every ten thousand really struck it rich! One man who had had the foresight to carry a half a dollar's worth of vegetable seeds with him made $1000 from his crop the next summer.

Tex Rickard made HIS Klondike money on a salmon, and Alexander Panagiotis, who never dug an ounce of Klondike gold, reaped his first fortune with a rickety theatre in Dawson. And there goes another illusion!

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—Ever squint through an old-time stereoscope at three-dimensional pictures of the Eiffel Tower or the St. Louis World's Fair? Two identical photos side by side on a card, when slid into focus, produce scenes with lifelike depth. Well, a system giving movies the same effect was shown off the other day.

It was very good, too. There were pretty girls lounging at different distances around a swimming pool. A streamlined train and automobiles rushed along in other scenes. A cigar-smoker in one close-up seemed to blow clouds off the screen right into the projection room. A good Havana odor would have completed the illusion. And when another smoker tossed his packet of paper matches, they seemed to land right in your lap.

You had to wear special spectacles, which were lent to the 30-odd Hollywood reporters who saw the demonstration. M. L. Gumburg, president of Natural Vision Corp., compared their effect with Venetian blind slats. Each lens admitted a separate set of rays to the eye. Without the specs on, the scene was blurred. With them on, things appeared as near or as far as in life.

But you couldn't cock your head to one side—this upset the invisible slats and distorted the picture. Gumburg said a new kind of glass is being developed, with a circular instead of slat effect. When that happens, he said, a girl can put her head on her boy friend's shoulder and still get a true picture.

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

Fact and Fiction—It is not really important, so far as the Korean war is concerned, whether we call the troops who fought against us Chinese Communists or Chinese Volunteers. It was Soviet China that on November 6 invaded Korea with the object of lighting the United States.

As Dean Acheson put it, their aim was to fight their way into the United Nations. In a broader sense, the use of the term "Volunteers" adds to all the new confusions that Soviet Russia has drawn from the Marxist Pandora's box. Instead of a country having allies, who are responsible, it calls for volunteers, which a nation may provide, without responsibility.

This concept appeared in the Spanish civil war, the Fascists and Nazis supporting one side; Soviet Russia supporting the other. It was, in effect, an experimental war, each side testing its strength and methods against the other. The Fascists, Nazis and Communists were volunteers in that war; so were the airplanes, tanks, arms and munitions. When the Anti-Communists won and the regime now headed by Franco was set up, neither Italy, Germany nor Russia assumed any responsibility.

Now this concept is being fictitiously applied to the discussions concerning the Korean situation. Soviet China came into it as a Volunteer. Although North Korea was defeated by General MacArthur, Soviet China entered the war, prolonged it, made an American victory impossible, created havoc within the United Nations, and now takes the position that it was a Volunteer—that, in fact, each individual Chinese soldier in that war was a volunteer.

The fiction is designed to eliminate, in whatever negotiations take place, Soviet China as an aggressor nation. It is astute reasoning on the part of the Soviets, but Soviet China should be held accountable for an international impropriety that cost American lives.

It is of importance at this moment to ask why the Korean war had to be prolonged. On March 24, General MacArthur spoke these words:

"Within the area of my authority as military commander, I stand ready at any time to confer in the field with the Commander-in-Chief of the enemy forces, on an earnest effort to find any military means whereby the realization of the political objectives of the UN in Korea, to which no nation may take just exceptions, might be accomplished without further bloodshed."

On June 29, General Ridgway spoke these words:

"As Commander-in-Chief of the United Nations command, I have been instructed to communicate to you the following:

"I am informed that you may wish a meeting to discuss an armistice providing for the cessation of hostilities and all acts of armed force in Korea, with adequate guarantees for the maintenance of such armistice."

"Upon receipt of word from you that such a meeting is desired I shall be prepared to name my representative. I would also at that time suggest a date at which he could meet with your representative. I propose that such a meeting could take place aboard a Danish hospital ship in Wonsan harbor."

The spirit of the language is identical; the words are not far apart. The question, therefore, must be asked why General MacArthur was dismissed for doing what General Ridgway was instructed to do.

Obviously, some deal was being cooked up in March which General MacArthur spoiled by what apparently was a correct but, from the State Department's standpoint, premature statement.

That deal was undoubtedly wrecked by the MacArthur dismissal which, whatever other purposes it served, forced the administration to alter its publicly declared policies.

Now we are to enter upon prolonged negotiations with Soviet China on the very questions which Soviet Russia has been demanding since 1948. The questions may be summarized as follows:

1. To obtain a seat in the United Nations as the only recognized government in China;

2. To be permitted to occupy Formosa and to abolish the Nationalist Government, headed by Chiang Kai-shek;

3. Succession to China's permanent seat on the Security Council of the United Nations;

4. The elimination of the United States from Asiatic affairs;

5. A seat at the conference for a treaty with Japan.

In pursuit of these policies, Soviet Russia boycotted the United Nations for six and one-half months. They conducted a worldwide phony peace campaign. They actually supplied a nation with the weapons of war, despite the assumption of the responsibility for that war by the United Nations. Having tested the persistence, if not the strength, of the United States, they have now assumed the peace offensive.

This is a moment of a show of real power in the diplomatic field.

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington—President Harry Truman was just as prolific a letter writer back in March of 1917 as he is today.

It is without Mr. Truman's permission that I offer this one in this missive. In fact, it is right pleasant, since it enabled the President's oil company to get $262.50 from a widow.

As you have undoubtedly noted herein, I've been going on a bit about the period in the President's life when he was star salesman and treasurer of the Morgan Oil and Refining Company. That was back in 1916-17, in Kansas City, where you could pick a chump off the street and with a little persuasion separate him from his money in exchange for wildcat oil stock.

In this particular instance involving the widow, since deceased Oil Salesman Truman sold her ten and one-half shares of oil stock at $25 apiece. The late Mrs. J. H. Best, of Monrovia, Kansas, parted with her widow's mite after she fell for him in the form of a newspaper advertisement which extolled the sound financial virtues of the oil company. Mr. Truman owned one-third of the concern. The stock eventually was worthless.

Mrs. Best's letter, now in the hands of her daughter, Mrs. John Snyder, 1014 Santa Fe Street, Atchison, Kansas, revealed to me a whole new venture of investigation. It brings into the oil deal for the first time an outfit called the Atlas-Oklahoma Lands Syndicate. You'll see how in a minute, it's been tedious but interesting digging into the Morgan Oil and Refining Company, but a syndicate is something else again. That has a nice flavor to it, smacking of real operators who know when it's time to bury burdensome oil stock floaters with new titles and new stock issues.

As noted previously, Mr. Truman, with Dave Morgan, of Eureka, Kansas, and W. H. Lynn, of Westmore, Kansas, in December of 1916 wrapped up their oil speculating ventures in the Morgan Oil and Refining Company. They first ran 10,000 shares of stock off the printing presses, with a par value of $100.

As you will note shortly, by some mysterious process, the stock reached a value of $25 per share within 90 days. In the interim period the President managed to shuck off a few shares to friends for $5.00. The whole operation was so profitable that the three Missouri oilmen—Truman, Morgan and Lynn—had a drugstore board of directors meeting and decided 10,000 shares was chicken feed. They re-capitalized with 60,000 shares.

Herewith Mr. Truman's letter to widow Best:

"My Dear Madam: Herewith certificate, No. 304 for ten and one-half shares in the Morgan Oil and Refining Company."

"You have no doubt received our recent letters giving you full data on the many valuable holdings of our company, making the prospective value of these shares, we believe, many times their present selling price of $25.00 per share; also the recent change in personnel of the management made the company even more substantial than it was."

"Kindly sign the receipt enclosed and return it together with your old certificate in the Atlas-Oklahoma Lands Syndicate, so that our records may be complete."

Very Truly Yours, Morgan and Company, Harry S. Truman.

Salaries in Our Alley: Some of us were wondering about a Hollywood pair—reported planning a merger... "I can't understand it," said a lad from Knockville. "She's known to be a charter member of The Daughters of Set—and so's he!" "Oh, it's a perfect match," cracked a comic. "They can wear each other's clothes!"... Jack Carter said he planned going to Hollywood... "Got any friends out there?" he was asked... "No," nifted Jack. "Has anybody?"

Courthouse Vignette: It happened Monday when the convict Communist chiefs (except a quartet that didn't come up for sentence to prison... F. Vanderbilt Field, the millionaire-banker (of many pro-Reds), was worried stiff... In the corridor he was overheard growling to some of them: "I put up $20,000 bail for each of those four! You better find them before my $80,000 is forfeited—or I'll become a Capitalist, again!"

Memos of a Midnighter: The Civil Rights Congress (labeled subversive by the Justice Dept.) knows that Field and others put up over $500,000. To help pay fines and for bail... Ambassador John S. Young, the socialite, has Washington pals worried. They know he's unaware he is up for a new post, but won't return from Palm Beach where he is courting a wealthy two-time divorcee... They tell you that besides Fire Comm. Monaghan (for new Police Comm.) the Mayor was asked to consider Gen. Jeffe... Tax dept agents are hep to entertainers who take a huge chunk of their wages "under the table." The squeeze will be put on them via the night spot people who hired them. If the latter cooperate with the Gov't—they may be rewarded with a lighter jail term, etc... B'way stage hits via teevy (on a closed circuit) hit the big fights to theatera: a past the blueprint stage. A Wall St. syndicate is backing the plan.

The Runyonworld: The so-called "organized" underworld is so story to tell.

Also, take another look at the President's assurances that "Recent changes in the personnel of the management made the company even more substantial than it was." He means HST, who had just stepped into Morgan and Company, with $1,000 and then some, although there is no record that any cash actually changed hands in relation to the note.

You may ask how I know the President made money. I'll quote company president Morgan:

"Sure, the President made some money. He was entitled to one-third of the profits."

I'll tell you something about those profits tomorrow.

"I'm glad you like it. I wanted your approval before I give it to your sister."

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

take my wife to "Little Hungary" last Sunday.

But as we ate our way through the meal, the food, good and wholesome as it was, faded away into the background, and for a couple of hours we were in the lovely Budapest of old.

The orchestra played old Hungarian folk songs and lovely Viennese dances.

All around us sat families of Hungarian birth or extraction. Most of them had their children with them, many of them were entertaining friends and relatives.

There was laughter and good cheer. Often the folks joined in the music with singing, and always there was hearty applause when a particularly pleasing piece was finished.

There was a bit of drinking—mostly beer and wine—but not one single man or woman overstepped the bounds of good behavior.

One of the things that impressed us most was how nicely the children acted.

It was refreshing to see how, in those families with European tradition, the children still respect and obey their parents.

We have all read about the unbelievable conditions in Hungary today.

Only a couple of weeks ago Robert Voogler, who was held prisoner by the Hungarians, told us at the National Press Club in Washington of the unspeakable tortures that were inflicted on him, and of the barbaric conditions that exist over there.

But here in Bridgeport's "Little Hungary", we saw the heart, the soul, the character of these people. We saw and heard how and what they are when they are permitted to be themselves.

We realized that all the suppressed and enslaved peoples in their hearts and souls are GOOD and DECENT people.

Traffic Flow Moderate On July Fourth

A surge of highway traffic, continuing from last Saturday and Sunday, held up in fair proportions throughout the Pocono mountain region on Tuesday, but then slackened off to "only moderate" yesterday.

Ordinarily, traffic loads build up throughout the region and hit a peak on the holiday, but observers here noted that a mid-week Fourth of July changed the character of the road travel.

Police patrolling regional highways reported no major accidents or mishaps up to a late hour last night. They observed that much of the north and westbound traffic passing Monroe county points last weekend and early this week, failed to reappear here yesterday, indicating that the original influx comprised a large number of vacation-bound travelers now spending a week or two in the mountains.

Interstate Bridge police at the Portland-Columbia, N. J., covered bridge last night estimated that the day's count of vehicles there would approach 3,500 cars.

A total of 3,729 had passed over the bridge up to 7 p. m., and that figure was only 265 short of the full day's report for Tuesday.

Cars filled with Fourth of July sightseers were crossing at Portland at a rate of 200 per hour and better last night. Earlier in the day, 300 passed over between 5 and 6 p. m. while the count from 6 to 7 p. m. was 248.

At the lower bridge at Delaware, N. J., total of 278 eastbound cars crossed between 6 and 7 p. m. yesterday, while 261 were counted in the eastbound line between 5 and 6 p. m.

Th lighter westbound count showed 111 passing between 6 and 7 p. m., and 151 moving over during the hour from 5 to 6 p. m.

Bridge officers at the steel bridge said Tuesday's total count reached 6,344 at their bridge, but they didn't expect the tabulation to go that high last night.

Here in the Stroudsburgs, police reported that a fair volume of traffic was moved through the boroughs without difficulty yesterday. The amount, however, was "nothing exceptional" for a Fourth of July.

State police at Brodheadsville found moderate traffic yesterday on Routes 115 and 12, and said the volume was not as great there as it had been last Saturday and Sunday.

Similar reports came from State police at Mount Pocono and Milford, and from Chiefs Fred Decker and Jesse Felker, of Delaware Water Gap and Portland, respectively.

East Borough To Seek Funds For Road Work

East Stroudsburg council awarded a contract for the purchase of an air compressor for use by the borough's water department during its July meeting held in council's municipal building chambers Tuesday night.

The low bid of $2,475 was entered by the Standard Equipment Co., and members of council voted to award the contract to that company.

The purchase had been authorized to give the water department equipment needed in the laying of water mains and other department work.

Borough Solicitor Charles R. Bensinger presented an ordinance of application for county aid for street work on Birch, Harrison and Rose Sts. This ordinance was adopted by council.

Repairs to Birch, Harrison and Rose Sts. were described as important items under the borough's current street repair program. Borough officials noted that all three streets need retopping, and added that it is hoped the work will be accomplished this year.

After routine business and presentation of reports, bills submitted during the past month were ordered paid and the session was adjourned.

Strike Of Baking Company Deliverymen In New York May Be Felt Here Today

The New York area baking company deliverymen's strike may put a crimp in the supply of breads and pastries coming into the Stroudsburgs today.

The strike was called in New York early Tuesday and created a bread famine in that metropolitan area within a few hours as housewives, buying for the Fourth of July holiday, quickly exhausted on-the-counter supplies.

Most groceries in the Stroudsburgs were closed yesterday, but one operator, reached last night, said they wouldn't know until this morning whether they'd have a normal supply on hand.

Many of the trucks operated in this region by the large baking companies receive their supply at breakdown points to which large transports haul full loads late each night.

Transports hauling for several of the truck companies reportedly made deliveries here Tuesday, but none had arrived at a late hour last night.

Ruster's garage, 20 N. Fifth St., is a breakdown point for Ward Baking Co. trucks in this area. Elizabeth Forwarding Co., of Elizabeth, N. J., a contract carrier, each night sends a transport loaded with bread to the local garage where area deliverymen for the company sort the load.

Henry Ruster, operator of the garage, said shortly before 10 p. m. that no delivery had come in from New Jersey at that hour. He did not know whether one was expected last night, although one was made on Tuesday despite difficulties on the New York end.

Status of local drivers for the large companies was not known last night. Some doubted that they'd participate in the strike directly because of complex union affiliations.

As the one grocer said: "We won't know until we find out if the trucks deliver this morning."

Not all out-of-town breads sold in Stroudsburg area come from New York and eastern New Jersey, however. Competing producers are active.

Chairman and her helpers are Mrs. N. N. Guillot and Mrs. B. H. Bensley.

Miss Leola Lee, Philadelphia, is spending some time with her mother, Mrs. Alice Lee.

Billy and George Garris are spending a few weeks with their mother, Mrs. Emma Garris.

Nancy Bunnell will celebrate her 8th birthday Sunday, July 8.

By the year 2000, the average age of World War Two veterans still living then will be about 78 years.

Filters Used To Clean Air In Houses

The housewife who frets about her household during problems may be interested to learn that lint is by far the greatest air-borne dust nuisance within the home. The truth of this fact will be affirmed by any owner of a warm air winter air conditioning system who has seen the mass of lint collected by his furnace filter from the indoor air which has circulated through the system.

Rugs, clothing, bedding, upholstered furniture—even the dust rag which the housewife uses when dusting—all contribute minute particles of lint fibres which float through the air and eventually settle on floors and furniture surfaces throughout the house.

Through the use of air filters in the modern warm air winter air conditioning system, lint, together with air-borne dust, dirt and pollen, are removed from the air circulated within the home. Clean air saves work and money, too, in decreased washing, cleaning and replacement of furnishings. Hay fever victims and others who suffer from asthmatic allergies can particularly appreciate the relief that comes from clean, pollen-and-lint-free air.

Heating system air filters should be inspected at least once every six months, advises the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Association. Disposable type filters should be changed, or washable type filters should be cleaned, when they are heavily loaded with lint and dust. Clogged filters restrict freedom of air circulation and may cause furnace over-heating.

Yellow Brown Stain Will Brighten Pine

Don't discard the idea of knotty or clear pine paneling for fear of darkening the room. If your paneling is going into a room requiring a dash of brightness, try a yellow brown oil stain.

According to the Western Pine association, here's the way to get it: After the usual preliminary steps of sanding with No. 0 or finer sandpaper and filling nail holes with pure yellow beeswax or non-shrinking crack filler, mix yellow ochre with a dab of burnt sienna and a dab of ultramarine blue in boiled linseed oil. Thin the mixture with gasoline and apply one thin coat. Over it apply two thin coats of white shellac, sanding before and after shellacking.

The yellow tint—which has an 80 per cent light reflection factor—will add cheeriness without blanching to the soft light brown.

Noisy Fan May Get On Nerves

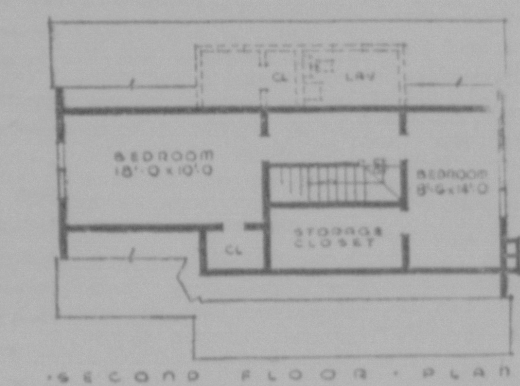

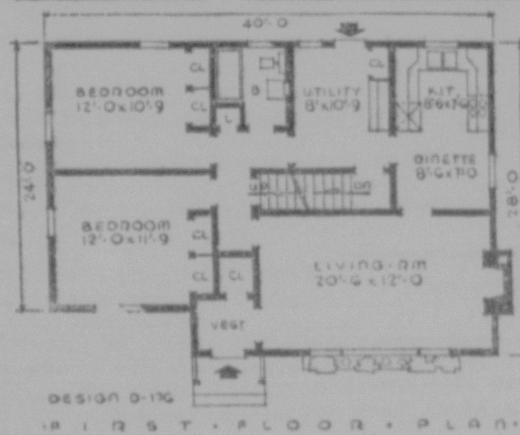

Unless you use an electric fan whose noise level is not much above that of the room in which it is running, your nerves may be so frayed that you can't enjoy the heat-relief given.

On the other hand, if the noise made by the fan is not much greater than that which naturally exists in the room, chances are that it won't get on your nerves. For instance, in a "quiet" home—that is, one with a 35 to 40-decibel noise level—you should use a fan which makes less than 45 decibels noise. In other words, you need a quiet 10 or 12-inch model.

In an office where the noise is up around 45 decibels, a quiet 12-inch or a quiet 16-inch fan operating on second speed will do the trick.

Priming Coat Protects Wood

If a new house is to be painted and it is felt that there may be danger from the moisture in the wood or in the plaster, apply a priming coat of paint, and delay the application of the finishing coats for two or three weeks. The priming coat of paint being a single coat, allows the moisture in the wood or plaster to evaporate more readily. For a while this priming coat prevents any substantial amount of rain from coming in and causing warping and shrinking of the wood.

THE DAWSON permits two additional bedrooms on the second floor, and by adding a dormer on the rear, a lavatory can be provided. Although there is a full basement, a utility room is placed between bath and kitchen, equipped with storage cabinet, coat closet and wall space for possible laundry equipment.

Kitchen cabinets are compactly grouped in one end of the room with dining space nearest the living room. Excellent circulation is obtained from hall which leads to all rooms.

The exterior of the Dawson has features, including a covered front stoop, flower pot shelf, shutters, wide siding and asphalt shingles.

The dimensions of this home are planned for 40 feet by 28 feet. Floor area totals 1,071 square feet with the cubage amounting to 23,294 cubic feet.

For further information about THE DAWSON write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Wooden Method Speeds Erection

Elimination of interior decoration problems, including plastering and papering, is assured if a house is finished with an all-wood interior.

Constructing the home entirely of lumber does away with delays due to plaster drying (as well as the mess that goes with any plastering operation) and avoids the introduction of a considerable quantity of water involved in the plastering of any wall. It also expedites completion of the structure and reduces wall cracks.

Maintenance thereafter is no problem, either, with wood paneled walls. Traditional knotty pine or clear pine finished in a light modern treatment is easy to keep clean and doesn't require re-doing every year or two.

Prepare Now For Winter Comfort

Home owners are urged by the Construction Research Bureau of New York to take advantage of the summer months to winter-condition their houses before the fall rush begins, and thus benefit by the lower prices that often prevail in the slack season.

Included in the items that should be installed during the summer are storm windows and doors, weatherstripping of all doors and windows, complete full-thickness insulation of exposed walls and roofs. All cracks in exterior siding and around window and door frames should be closed with caulking compounds during the summer.

Cost of these improvements is low and the resulting fuel savings, amounting to more than 50 per cent will pay for the work within three years.

Recessed Unit Increases Area

Much additional wall space for arrangement of furniture can be obtained by recessing radiators into the wall, and it is usually advisable to do this when the warm weather starts and the heat can be turned off.

The radiator need not be placed under a window, as tables, low desks, or chairs may be placed in front of radiator grills without interfering with the heating of the room.

Every summer in Switzerland, 200 actors perform the historic story of William Tell in an outdoor setting at Interlaken.

Wash Walls, Then Paint

In painting the interior walls of older homes, the home owner should first remove the thin layer of grease and smoke which often clings there, although it may not be perceptible. This film which is most frequently found on the walls of kitchens, prevents the new paint from adhering properly.

Where smirched walls are to be painted, they should first be washed with soap and water, to which a little ammonia may be added, and finally rinsed with water.

Cracks in the plaster should be well dampened and filled with a paste of plaster of paris or patching plaster. When the plaster of paris has hardened, it should be scraped or sandpapered until it is smooth. It is likely to be more porous than the plaster of the wall and should therefore be given preliminary applications of the paint to be used on the whole surface.

Pipes Sweat In Summer Heat

"Sweating" pipes and plumbing fixtures in summertime are not a sign of faulty plumbing, advises the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau. As a result of condensation of water vapor in the air, beads of moisture will form in warm weather on any pipes and fixtures containing cold water.

Normally, when not in use, the water and fixtures will warm rapidly to room temperature and the condensation will stop. When a closet tank or other fixture continues to "sweat" for hours after it has been used, it is a sign that cold water is continuing to flow through it, possibly as a result of an improper adjustment of the tank valve or a leak. In this case, a master plumber should be called for checking and servicing.

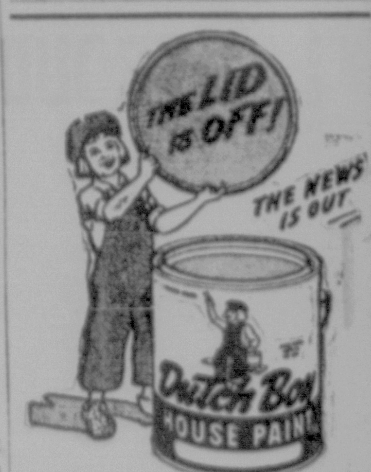

For Kitchen, Bath

Structural glass used in kitchens and bathrooms is impervious to moisture, odors, and ordinary acids and due to its sparkling finish may be easily cleaned with a damp cloth.

Moths Attracted To Paint Brushes

Moths go in for other delicacies beside father's best suit. They're very fond of paint brush bristles of animal hair. So, if brushes, particularly new brushes, are to be stored for any length of time in a place where the destructive pests are prevalent, they should be kept in moth-proof containers.

A good way to keep clean brushes is to tie them up in paper bags, with a few moth balls added for protection.

Efficient Kitchen Has Charm

Try this for a kitchen with charm that functions efficiently. Finish three walls in stained pine, the window-wall in small-patterned paper. From the beamed ceiling hang an old brass lantern. Place the up-to-date white enameled stove against a chimney-like wall of brick. Over the stove attach an old-fashioned copper hood concealing a ventilating fan. Treated this way, the effect of an old-fashioned stove is created for the very efficient modern stove and ventilator.

Recess the electric refrigerator in a pine niche. For cabinet tops use a metal resembling pewter. At the window use sheer white cotton Dutch or double-hung curtains (opaque curtains for upper and lower sash). Before the window place a pine table and chairs for serving breakfast and snacks.

Over the sink, refrigerator niche or storage cabinets build open shelves with the same patterned paper used on the window-wall. On these shelves display blue and white milk glasses, such as set-tington egg dishes, lattice-bordered plates and compotes. Old milk glass was made chiefly in the greater Ohio River valley area about 100 years ago. In the same region where fine American glassware is still made by hand today.

Man's Room Can Reflect Interests

Make the room occupied by a man reflect his special interests. Strong wall colors and a light-colored floor contrast pleasingly with leather-brown furniture.

Lamps with brown bases and beige shades picturing fishing, hunting, horse or nautical scenes, depending on his hobby, create interest. One huge picture repeating this motif, or a group of six or eight small prints, telling a story on the subject, is effectively centered on one plain wall. Avoid ornate picture frames.

Draperies with large plaid designs are better than figured hanging.

NAGGING ACHES AND PAINS WERE RELIEVED BY HADACOL

When Nagging Aches and Pains Are Due To Deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, HADACOL Gives Welcome Relief

Driving a truck is no holiday. It's hard work and a man has got to be on his toes all the time and feeling well to keep going. Mr. Edward Jakubowski, 1622 N. 75th Court, Elmwood Park, Ill., has been driving a truck since 1919 and has always enjoyed his job. But Mr. Jakubowski must not have felt quite up to the strain of his job for a time because he did not feel well. He had annoying aches and pains and he felt rundown. One of his fellow drivers told him about how HADACOL was helping people suffering from deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2 Iron and Niacin. HADACOL seemed to be just what he needed. Here is what Mr. Jakubowski says:

MR. JAKUBOWSKI SAYS

"For awhile I was bothered with aches and pains and felt rundown. One day one of the other drivers suggested I start taking HADACOL. So I bought a bottle and started taking it. It has relieved my pains, they've almost completely disappeared, and no longer prevent me from sleeping well. This was three years ago when I took my first bottle of HADACOL. I still continue to take it and have recommended it to many of my friends. I truly think HADACOL is a good product."

Many thousands take HADACOL regularly because HADACOL makes it possible to actually relieve the REAL CAUSE of those nagging aches and pains when due to the lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron in the system.

AND LISTEN TO THIS! Continued use of this great HADACOL not only gives continuous complete relief but helps keep such painful distress from returning when caused by such deficiencies. Now that's the kind of product you have been waiting for. That's the kind you should buy and start taking at once.

And HADACOL's wonderful Vitamins and Minerals come in special pleasant liquid form so they are quickly absorbed and assimilated in the blood, ready to go to work at once.

Edward Jakubowski

HADACOL IS SO EFFECTIVE
Because HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every organ and to every part of your body.

You may have tried other Vitamin preparations or other Vitamin and Mineral preparations, so we make you this offer. Try a bottle of HADACOL today if you need Vitamin B1, B2, Niacin and Iron. You be the judge. If you do not believe that HADACOL is the best Vitamin and Mineral preparation you have ever taken, we will gladly send you back your money. That's our positive money-back guarantee. You take no chances.

So be fair to yourself. Don't go through life suffering from your nagging aches and pains when caused by lack of vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, when relief may be as close at hand as your nearest drug store.

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES

There's only one HADACOL. Don't let anyone tell you something else is "just as good." Insist on genuine HADACOL. You risk nothing because HADACOL is sold on a strict money-back guarantee. Sold at all drug stores. Trial size, $1.25, but buy the large family size, only $3.50.

SLEEP IN REFRESHING AIR-COOLED COMFORT with a Window or Attic Fan!

Hot, sultry days needn't end in sleepless nights for you and your family! Rid your rooms of that oppressive, left-over daytime heat with a window fan...or air-cool your whole house with an attic fan!

A window fan forces out stale, hot air while drawing in refreshingly cool night air, to make each room as comfortable and livable as a sleeping porch. Even on breezeless nights, your fan will draw clean, cool air through the house. And not only will you sleep better, you'll wake up refreshed and rested, ready for the heat of day.

See your electrical appliance retailer today. He'll help you choose the fan best suited to improving your sleeping this summer.

An attic fan sweeps out hot air, sealed beneath the roof, drawing cool air in through all lower floors to provide an all-over cooled house.

PENNSYLVANIA POWER & LIGHT COMPANY

AT LONG LAST, 19 JAPANESE who have refused to believe the war is over have surrendered the tiny mid-Pacific island of Anafanan. At top, they raise the white flag as U.S. representatives come ashore and an interpreter, Kan Akatani (arm extended) explains the time has come for them to leave the island. With him are Lt. Cmdr. James B. Johnson, Civil Administrator for Japan, and Cmdr. W. Jerome Hartley, of the Naval Forces in the Marianas Islands. Below, nearly six years after the end of hostilities, the stalwart 19 wave goodbye to their island from the Navy Fleet boat Cacopa. They were finally convinced through messages sent by friends that Japan had lost the war and it was ended.

U. S. Seeks To Contact POWs

The Department of Defense announced yesterday that every effort is being made to establish communication between members of the armed forces believed to be prisoners of North Korean or Chinese Communist forces and their families.

The department has reported, and will continue to report to the families concerned, the name of every individual identified by any source which has given indication that some armed forces personnel, officially listed as missing in action, are prisoners of war.

No guarantee can be given that attempts to communicate with a relative will be successful. Arrangements have been made, however, by the U. S. Postoffice so that persons may write to him at the following address:

Name, Rank, and Serial Number of the relative.
c/o Chinese People's Committee for World Peace, Peking, China.

In the past certain individuals have been known to extort money from families by claiming that they have some knowledge of the relative who is reported as missing in action.

Persons receiving letter or other communication from anybody not well known to them who claims to have knowledge about your missing relative, should be notified immediately.

Quick Reaction By Engineman Averts Wreck

Ithaca, N. Y., (AP)—The quick reaction by engineer Edward Manning saved a Lehigh Valley railroad crack passenger train—the Black Diamond—from being wrecked yesterday when a large tree fell across the track.

Manning said he suddenly noticed the huge tree as he rounded a curve west of Ithaca at 70 miles an hour going down grade. Using his emergency brakes, he set the wheels and slid the train, which stopped just as the diesel locomotive reached the obstruction.

None of the 133 passengers was injured. By using only the regular brake on the diesel, the engineer saved it from damage. But every other wheel on the train was flattened and will have to be replaced he stated.

A special train was made up at Sayre, Pa., to take the passengers to New York. Meanwhile, another train was made up at Wilkes-Barre and ran on the regular schedule of the "Black Diamond" out of Wilkes-Barre.

Chances Appear Slim For Legislative Re-Appportionment

Harrisburg, (AP)—Despite a constitutional mandate, chances appear slim for a re-apportionment of Pennsylvania's legislative and senatorial districts by the 1951 General Assembly.

While the State Constitution directs the assembly to reapportion its own districts after each census, the Legislature now is operating under districts set up in 1920.

There is no penalty for the assembly failing to re-apportion its own districts. But there is an indirect penalty for failure to re-apportion congressional districts. If it isn't done, all of the State's congressmen would be elected on a State-wide basis.

Consequently, unless the assembly at the present session, or at a special session before the 1952 elections, sets up new congressional districts, all of the State's 30 congressmen would be on the ballot in every county in the State. Section 18 of Article Two of Pennsylvania's basic law spells it out clearly:

"The General Assembly at its first session after the adoption of this Constitution, and immediately after each United States decennial census, shall apportion the State into senatorial and representative districts."

But not since 1920 has the Legislature redistricted the 50 senatorial seats and 208 places in the House. The 1930 census came and went with nothing done in the Legislature about reapportionment.

A redistricting plan set up by the 1937 Legislature on the basis of the 1930 census was thrown out by the State Supreme court. The makeshift plan fell because of technical errors that resulted in some localities winding up with no representation.

That was the last plan to meet with legislative approval. Since then, scores of proposals have been made but none has cleared the lawmaking mill.

The Northeast Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce has filed suit in U. S. District court asking that Pennsylvania's lawmakers be held in contempt for failing to carry out the constitutional reapportionment requirement.

There are a variety of reasons for the inaction despite the fact that population changes have thrown the size of some districts in comparison to others into lopsided confusion, especially in Philadelphia.

Delay in legislative action on either of the plans is due to a lack of official detailed census figures on the ward level for Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. As soon as they become available, the Legislature is likely to redistrict congressional seats but leave its own setup unchanged for at least another two years.

Henryville

Mrs. Paul Barry
Stbg. 1421-R-4

On Thursday night, July 5, there will be a meeting of the Council of Administration in Pocono Union Church beginning at 7:30. All officials are urged to attend.

On Tuesday of last week William Naugle, of McMichael's, called on his daughter, Mrs. Russell Barry. Callers that evening were Mrs. Barry's sister, Mrs. Homer Frable and children.

The sermon delivered by Rev. C. L. Hertzog on Sunday night was "Workers Together With God." It was announced that the sum of $200 will be needed to pay Pocono Union's share of the moving cost and the cost of renovating the parsonage. Of this sum there is now available only about one-fifth, which means there is much more needed. It is hoped that all members and friends of the church will lessen this burden with generous contributions, as the money is for a good cause and the need is great.

On Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. John Everett, of McMichael's, called on the latter's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Barry, and also on Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barry.

June 18 was the 2nd wedding anniversary of Fireman I and Mrs. Alfred Lewis.

Cpl. Oliver Van Buskirk, of Camp Atterbury, Ind., spent 3 days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Van Buskirk, Sr.

Louis Spaeth has opened his Laundrette in this vicinity for the summer months.

Miss Nancy Houck, of McMichael's, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Van Buskirk.

Weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Succow were, the former's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Friganza and family, of Morris Plains,

Monroe County Represented At Young GOP Convention; Delaware Man New Chairman

Approximately 1,500 Young Republicans gathered from 46 States, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico for the biennial convention in Boston, Mass., June 27, 28, 29 and 30 for the purpose of electing a national chairman.

Among the Pennsylvania State delegates representing Monroe county were Miss Marie A. Cody and Dr. Carolyn Toewe, first alternate and delegate respectively. The largest delegation was from Pennsylvania numbering 105 persons, headed by Robert L. Kunzig, state chairman of Pennsylvania Federation of Young Republicans and deputy attorney general of Pennsylvania.

Of the 1,500 persons present, 471 were accredited delegates. The federation has approximately 250,000 members who represent 3,000 local clubs, 500 colleges and 500 high school clubs.

At the opening session of the convention John Tope, Michigan, outgoing national chairman impressed the group with the fact that there are 45 million potential voters under the age of 40, which represents over 50% of the eligible voters in America. At the get-acquainted dance following, Miss GOP of 1951 was chosen from Belmont, Mass.

Thursday the highlight was the sailing to Plymouth for the dedication of Plymouth Rock by John Davis Lodge of Connecticut. He declared, "If the uncertainty of purpose, the lack of conviction, the indecision and confusion which afflict American leadership today had prevailed at Plymouth in the Winter of 1620-1621, Plymouth Rock today would not be an imperishable symbol of greatness, it would be the headstone of a lost and forgotten cause."

Friday night was designated as College night, the highlight being another dynamic speech by Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin entitled "The Planned Betrayal of 1951." He reviewed events leading up to the Korean situation and his closing remark was "Let's have a dishonorable peace rather than a dishonorable war."

Other speakers during the convocation included Guy George Gabrielson, of New Jersey, chairman of Republican National committee; Sinclair Weeks, chairman of Republican National Finance Committee; T. McKeldin, governor of Maryland; Sen. Richard Nixon, of California; Sen. Margaret C. Smith of Maine; Fred W. Hall, lieutenant governor of Kansas.

The highlight of Saturday's activities was a six-hour nomination

N. J. On Sunday the Succows and Friganzas called on another sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Ehrlich, of Newfoundland.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Post have as their guest this week the latter's sister, Mrs. Rudolph Bodenhorn, of Reading. Mrs. Bodenhorn has just returned from a trip to Texas and Mexico.

Lions Sponsor Three-County Beauty Pageant

Saylorsburg — The West End Lions club is sponsoring a beauty pageant at Saylors Lake starting at 7:30 p. m. July 7 with contestants from three counties—Lehigh, Northampton and Monroe—entered.

Lloyd Altemose, president of the West End Lions club, will be the judge representing Monroe county. Each of the other two counties will name a judge.

Contest will be held in the Saylors Lake pavilion where Ray Anthony and his orchestra will play a concert.

Proceeds will benefit the activities fund of the West End Lions club.

Kiffin Wins Scholarship

John Kiffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving B. Kiffin, of Ransberry Ave., East Stroudsburg, has been notified that he has been awarded a State senatorial scholarship by Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe. It will provide $100 a year for four years.

Kiffin, who was graduated in June from East Stroudsburg High school, was active on the yearbook staff, a member of the East Stroudsburg school newspaper staff, was a member of the Junior Historical society, and competed in the forensic contest in the discussion division.

He will enter Pennsylvania State College this fall, where he is enrolled in the liberal arts course.

IN PARIS, a youngster examines the work of one of his contemporaries at an exhibition of winning entries in the inter-European child art competition. The show is sponsored by the Economic Cooperation administration.

July Fourth Program Held At Church

Mountainhome — A special service in recognition of the 175th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence was held at the Mountainhome Methodist church at noon yesterday. The National Council of Churches had requested that all church bells throughout the country be rung at noon, and after the ringing of the bell, the congregation joined in singing "America, the Beautiful."

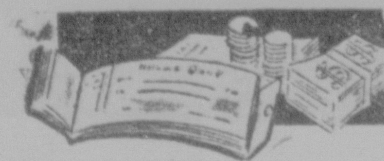

Miss Gretchen Sengle then read the Declaration of Independence, after which Rev. Harold N. MacMurray, pastor, led the congregation in prayer for the nation and the community, and for peace throughout the world. The National Anthem was sung by Miss Marie Shyshuk, coloratura soprano from which he is working. Camille Buzzard, Annette Kulp, Pauline Mickey, Jim Howard and Robert Redig are the young people from the Presbyterian church attending Camp Michaux this week. They were accompanied by Mrs. Herbert Buzzard and Rev. Hubert Newton, who will act as counselors at the camp.

Mrs. Paschal Webb, Mrs. Fred Neipert and Alex L. Bensinger were received into membership of the Presbyterian Church of the Mountain at the regular morning worship service held Sunday.

Swiftwater Choir Honors Pastor, Bride

Swiftwater — The Swiftwater Methodist hall was transformed into a flower garden, with rose arbors and white streamers, on Saturday night when the choir members and mothers gathered to shower gifts on the pastor Rev. Charles Whittaker and his bride of a week.

There was a special table for the bride and groom, which held a wedding cake as a centerpiece, a corsage and tall white tapers. Guests were seated around a large decorated table, holding a maypole while miniature bridesmaids in pastel colors decked the table amid flowers, streamers, and tapers.

The party was a complete surprise, the gifts were hidden and there was much merriment as a treasure hunt ensued. Refreshments of cakes, brick ice cream, punch and mints were served after which pictures were taken by the church organist Miss Audrey Hamblin.

Guests were Rev. and Mrs. Whittaker, Marie Smith, Mrs. Elizabeth Strohl, Mrs. Lauretta Nauman and LaVerne, Mrs. Alice Hamblin, David, Billy, Betsy and Jim, Mrs. Nellie Widdow and Eugene, Mrs. Hattie Nauman and Shirley, Audrey Hamblin, Mrs. Madlyn Wescott, Ruth Ann, Bobby, and Alvin, Mrs. Virginia Nauman and Lois, Mrs. Grace Hamblin and Dan.

Visitors were Mrs. Dorothy Megahay, Gay, John, Stephen and Deborah of Philadelphia. Gifts were sent by Mrs. Susan Hackenberg and Suzanne who were unable to be present. The Whittakers are at home in Swiftwater in their newly furnished apartment.

Progressive Club Board Plans Year

Saylorsburg — An executive board meeting was held Friday night by the Progressive Women's club of Saylorsburg at the home of the president, Mrs. Marvin Krome, Gilbert.

A general discussion of the club's activities for another year, as well as a project for the club was held.

Mrs. Lloyd Altomose, chairman of legislation department, will obtain a speaker for October meeting, which is scheduled for October 10, at Chestnut Hill High auditorium.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Maybe in this 175th year of our independence everybody was sitting around in contemplation, taking stock, as the man said, but one sure thing—Main Street looked more like a quiet Sunday afternoon than the Fourth of July.

Seemed more like a quiet Sunday afternoon around our house, too, with nobody agitating for picnics or swimming or anything, and even the war against weeds in the rose garden coming up against a "cease-fire" order when she rains began.

The children at the river, however, came up with their own idea of a celebration. Called "Fire at Sea" it consisted of filling a paper carton with crumbled paper, setting it afloat and then letting it float off down the river in the dark. The water would gradually seep into the box and it would die down leaving a hole burned in the night.

But the quietest Fourth of July of all must have been Virginia Robinson's. She adopted an orphan rose-breasted grosbeak and has been feeding him with an eye-dropper for about three weeks. However, recently, he caught cold and is perfectly miserable. Only place he feels at all comforted is perched on her left shoulder, which sort of rules out sudden movements.

But we don't have any birds to consider just at the moment, so maybe we'd better get to work. Though a holiday in the middle of the week sort of gets you out of a working mood.

New Curriculum Is Adopted By Church School

The church school of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian church will operate under the "new curriculum" of the church, it was decided at a joint meeting of the church school officers and teachers and the session of the church held Friday night.

The new curriculum, the result of years of research and study on the part of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education which embodies many new teaching methods, will go into effect on October 7, 1951, and at the same time the church school will begin at 9:45 instead of 10 a. m. allow more time for study and discussion.

Reports were given by the members who had been assigned certain phases of study of the new curriculum, and of how it had worked in other churches. The church school officers and teachers, with Horace Westbrook, superintendent, presiding, voted to recommend that the session consider its adoption.

With Rev. Ernest T. Campbell presiding as moderator, members of the session voted to adopt the program.

At the church school meeting, the annual picnic was set for the last week in July with the exact date to be announced later.

Mrs. Kane Reviews Book On MacArthur For World Affairs Study Group Of Woman's Club

The first meeting of the Woman's Club World Affairs discussion group, to which all interested citizens of the county are invited, found representatives of the Senior and Junior clubs, the Business and Professional Women, the Daughters of the American Revolution and the American Association of University Women assembled to hear Mrs. Elizabeth Kane, Monroe county librarian, review John Gunther's "Riddle of MacArthur" and discuss the various aspects of the MacArthur question.

Mrs. George T. Robinson, president of the Woman's club, welcomed the group and the meeting was opened with a prayer for peace. Mrs. Robinson named the members of the discussion group committee, Mrs. A. A. Holbrook, Mrs. Howard Eckert, Mrs. Fred W. Davis, Mrs. Eugene H. Martin, Mrs. Leo J. Dornbos, Mrs. Robinson herself, and then presented the chairman, Mrs. Irving B. Kliffin, who introduced Mrs. Kane.

In her review, Mrs. Kane analyzed and interpreted both Mr. Gunther's estimate of General MacArthur and his view of the entire Far Eastern situation, and during the discussion period which followed many interesting accounts by the group members of actual experiences recorded by relatives and friends in Tokyo were heard. In conclusion, the discussion closed with the reading of the statement issued by the senatorial committee in charge of the MacArthur inquiry.

The northeastern district of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Women's clubs will be held September 19, at Wilkes-Barre, and the Monroe County Federation of Women's clubs will hold its fall meeting at the Flo-Jean, with the Keystone Community club, of Matamoras as the hostess club, it was announced.

The World Affairs discussion group will hold three meetings a year, the next to be some time in October, and the third in April, with topics of current importance and interest and speakers or discussion leaders, to which anyone interested is invited.

Independence Re-Declared At Pageant

Philadelphia (AP)—America re-declared its independence yesterday at a dramatic 175th birthday pageant in this historic city.

Rain also marred the hour-long spectacle in front of Independence hall as Philadelphia led the nation in commemorating the signing on July 4, 1776, of the Declaration of Independence.

Black rain clouds sprinkled the crowd of thousands but the 100 actors in colonial costumes re-told the crucial hours that culminated in the declaration and the tolling of the Liberty Bell, the act which proclaimed liberty in this nation.

The brief flashback of history—to the days of Franklin, Jefferson, Washington, Hancock and Adams—brought tears to the eyes of many in the holiday throng.

In Washington, the House of Representatives observed the Fourth with an unusual session, first on the holiday in 10 years. Exactly 75 of the 432 members showed up to hear Rep. Lind (D-Pa.) read the Declaration of Independence.

At Valley Forge, Pa., where Gen. George Washington and his men spent the bitter and near-fatal winter of 1776-77, the Polish American congress honored Casimir Pulaski, a Revolutionary War hero.

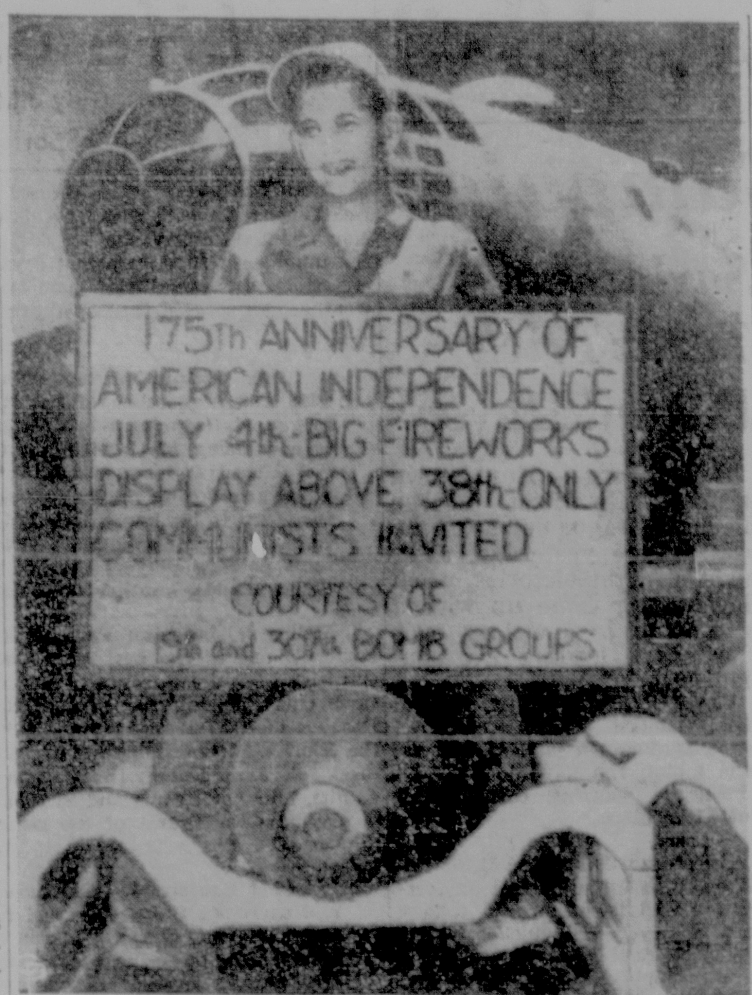

Yesterday's Independence hall festivities brought to a climax four days of activity here that cost Federal, State and city an estimated $250,000. It featured church services for worldwide peace, a token meeting of the Pennsylvania State Legislature in the State House and an address by U. S. Sen. James H. Duff (R-Pa.).

Duff, former governor of Pennsylvania, declared America today faces "the gravest danger" in "this very hour of greatness."

"Disguising an old tyranny under a new name Russia seeks to reimpose upon people everywhere the very shackles and tyranny of the past from which we in America were freed by our Declaration of Independence," Duff said, adding:

"We offer the world peace if we may have peace without appeasement and with freedom."

The "hallowed earth" ceremony, begun Sunday, was completed in Independence square. Armed forces representatives of the 48 states, flanked by their state flags, received tiny oak trees for planting in earth that came from Revolutionary war battlefields of the original 13 states. This soil was mixed with the good earth from the

Diabetics Warned Against Buying Insulin Substitute

Washington, (AP)—The Food and Drug administration warned diabetics yesterday against buying a remedy being mailed into the United States from Mexico.

The agency said in a news release the product is "worthless and extremely dangerous if employed as a substitute for insulin."

Food and drug agents, in cooperation with customs and postal authorities, have seized about 20 packages.

The administration said it was especially concerned because one-inch advertisements for the remedy have been showing up in newspapers and magazines throughout the country. The agency identified the product as "Cacalia Composita, Mexican Indian root," selling in $15 and $25 packages.

"Cities where advertisements are known to have been published include San Francisco and Sacramento, New York City, Cincinnati, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Uniontown, Pa., and Bridgeport, Conn.," the agency added.

"Direct mail advertising also is being used to promote the remedy. Mailings have been heavy in the Vermont area, but the packages which were denied entry were addressed to all sections of the country."

Circulars with the product bore the name of Mexican Indian Root Co., Dr. Miguel C. Martinez, general manager.

U. S. Soldiers Mark Holiday In Germany

Stuttgart, Germany (AP)—Eight thousand steel-helmeted U.S. soldiers marched under an umbrella of warplanes here yesterday in an Independence day parade. It was the biggest display of American armed might in Europe since the war.

Five hundred combat vehicles and 120 tanks accompanied the marching soldiers through Stuttgart's winding streets before more than 100,000 German and American spectators.

Red-nosed jet fighter planes swooped low over the parade route, trailing white streams of vapor across the sunny sky.

The mile-long parade passed in review before Lt. Gen. Manton S. Eddy, commander of the U.S. Seventh Army which has its headquarters here.

With him on the reviewing stand was Senator Hickenlooper (R-Ia.), here on an observation tour as a member of the Senate's Armed Forces committee.

High German and Allied officials were honor guests at the show.

The parade here was the highlight of an Independence day celebration which spread all over Europe—from England to North Africa, wherever American troops are stationed.

Gen. Thomas T. Handy, U.S. commander in Europe, reminded the celebrators:

"Liberty will be ours just as long as we guard and defend it wherever it is threatened."

The Stuttgart parade was an impressive demonstration of the growing might of American forces in Europe—swelled by reinforcements sent to counter the threat of Soviet aggression.

The crisply marching troops were dressed in combat uniforms with fixed bayonets.

At U.S. Army posts throughout Germany, 48-gun salutes boomed out—one for each state of the union.

In London, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower handed over a scroll bearing the names of 28,000 U.S. service men who died on duty in Britain during World War Two. The scroll is to be enshrined in St. Paul's cathedral. The ceremony on the steps of the ancient church was attended by the King and Queen and top government officials. It was marred only briefly by British Communist demonstrators, quickly dispersed by London bobbies.

Ambassador Alan G. Kirk held an afternoon reception at the U.S. embassy's Spass house in Moscow. Among the guests invited were Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky, Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, chiefs of the Russian Army, Navy and Air Force and other Soviet officials.

In Rome, some 5,000 guests—including every American in the Italian capital—were invited to a big garden party given by Ambassador James C. Dunn. Margaret Truman, the most celebrated American in town, didn't attend.

Instead, she went off on a day-long trip to the hills near Rome.

U.S. Considers Cut In Use Of Natural Gas

Washington (AP)—The Interior department is studying problems of natural gas distribution in the Atlantic states to determine whether an order curtailing use of the fuel is necessary.

A shortage of steel pipe, and to a lesser extent shortage of natural gas itself, are factors which might cause the government to limit the installation of further gas heating units and possibly apply other control measures.

A department spokesman emphasized no order was contemplated.

ed right now and that Federal authorities might not intervene in the situation.

Columbia Gas System, Inc., however, has asked for a freeze on further installation of gas furnaces in the Maryland and Virginia suburbs of Washington.

Columbia supplies natural gas at wholesale through subsidiaries. In petitions made to regulatory bodies in Virginia and Maryland it stated not enough gas is being piped from Texas to meet the expanded demand here, and that restrictions on materials have prevented construction of storage facilities.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 6. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Pocono A. C. Rolls Over West Bangor, 13-3

Steele Notches Third Victory Despite Rain

Pocono A. C. clung to its half-game lead in the Blue Mountain league by pouncing on a 13-3 victory over West Bangor, despite the fact that the contest was marred by rain and held up for nearly half-an-hour in the second inning, during which time the home club tallied ten markers.

A total of 14 batters went to the plate for Pocono A. C. in the big second frame, as the charges of Manager John Schoonover put the contest on ice, then fought off the rain and West Bangor to leave the field victorious, after three hours of action.

Ray Steele, making his third start in the Blue Mountain league, accounted for his third victory, as he kept the West Bangor club scoreless until the sixth, although visibly bothered by the rain which fell lightly almost throughout the contest. Steele walked 12 batters and fanned six, but allowed only three singles.

The contest featured stalling and rushing tactics by the respective foes during the first five innings, as Pocono A. C. was in a hurry to make it an official game, while West Bangor did everything in its power to delay the contest long enough to have it washed out by rain shorts of the four and one-half innings needed to make the game official. However, the weatherman refused to cooperate.

Fred Sisolak singled off Steele in the first frame and then the lanky right hander tossed hitless until the sixth when Carl Case opened with a single. Case also singled in the seventh.

Pocono A. C. wound up its scoring with one tally in the fifth and a pair in the eighth, while West Bangor tallied twice in sixth and once in the seventh.

The Schoonovermen play at Giffels field tomorrow night, under the lights, when they play host to a vastly improved Stockertown outfit, at 8:30.

White Sox Move Back Into First Place With Victory Over Tigers In Nightcap Of Twin Bill

Detroit (AP) — A dead-game bunch of Chicago White Sox battled their way back into first place in the American League yesterday as they beat the Detroit Tigers, 5-1, in the nightcap of a doubleheader after losing the opener, 6-3.

A crowd of 38,024—at least half of which was pulling for Manager Paul Richard's surprising Chicagoans—saw the Tigers sparkle at bat and afield as they won the opener behind Hal Newhouse's steady pitching.

The Detroiters snapped a four-game losing streak in that opener. "Hoot" Evers and Joe Ginsberg hit home runs to pace the attack.

Chicago's efforts were thwarted by Newhouse's control and six Tiger double plays—only one less than the league record.

The White Sox had little to celebrate about in the opener, but they wasted no time in putting on a Fourth of July display in the second.

Paul "Dizzy" Trout was the victim of the uprising, which saw four runs stream across the plate in the opening inning while Trout was able to get only one man out. Al Zarilla's seventh homer was the big wallop which scored two runs and sent Trout to the showers.

Veteran right hander Joe Doherty guarded that lead jealously as the White Sox kept one eye on the Tigers and the other on the scoreboard which told of the Yankees second defeat of the day.

Kirchner Wins Feature Event At Local Track

"Shorty" Kirchner, Mertztown, captured first place in the feature event at Delaware Valley Speedway yesterday, as a large crowd of stock cars battled each other and the rain in the special Fourth of July program at the half-mile oval located near the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg Airport.

Kirchner also won prize money for 23 laps in the feature event, while Ray Fleming, Bethlehem, captured the extra pay for two laps.

This is the same track on which Joe Chitwood and his auto daredevils will thrill an expected capacity crowd tonight.

The first number scheduled to take place at 8:30. Norman Cawley, Middletown, finished second in the feature with the remainder of the paying places strung out as follows: "Smooky" Dingler, Reading; Jim Heater, Joe Gryan, Oxford, N. J.; Stan Metz, Pottstown; "Baer" Herman, Monticue, N. J. and George Fox, Oxford, N. J.

Kirchner also finished second in the second qualifying heat, a race won by Dingler, with Fox coming home third. Jim Widdow and Herman Taylor, both of Stroudsburg, finished fourth and fifth respectively, while Sharon Williams, Washington, N. J. was sixth.

The first qualifying heat was won by Metz, with Gene Conual, Stroudsburg, second, George Green, Zane Tallada, Tannersville; Fleming and Cawley rounded out the field in that order.

Herman won the third heat, with Cryan second and Heater third. George Slight, Easton, driving a car owned by Frank Smith, Marshall's Creek, was fourth and Ew Rabinski, Oxford, N. J., crossed the finish line in fifth place.

Cawley won the consolation grind, followed by Williams, Rabinski, Jim Fahr and Russ Egert, Mt. Pocono.

Clowns Meet Stars At Bangor Park

Bangor—Indianapolis and Philadelphia, running one-two in the eastern division race of the Negro American Baseball League, bring their rivalry here to Memorial Park tonight when they collide in an official circuit contest starting at 8:30.

Spectacular play seems assured, particularly by the Clowns, who have reinforced a veteran lineup and now are rated by most connoisseurs of the barnstorming game as the greatest attraction in colored baseball today. At last report they had won 24 out of 31 tests, some indication of the superlative performance they offer.

Prize Rookies

The Stars counter with a club which has only three hold-overs from last season but Manager Oscar Charleston has been fortunate in discovering a few prize rookies while winter trades have brought him several old pros who provide the experience needed to steady a young line. That this formula has paid off is evinced by the team's standing in the present pennant chase.

Short-handed last week when his outfit bowed to Nashville in a tremendous slugging duel, Charleston also has declared that three regulars missing then will be back in the lineup, giving the club peak strength for this important joust with the Clowns.

Senators Sweep Bargain Bill From Yankees

New York (AP) — Washington struck two staggering blows at the New York Yankees yesterday by sweeping a doubleheader from the world champs, 9-6 and 6-5. Mickey Harris helped win the second game with a double and protected the slim lead by shutout relief work.

after replacing Joe Haynes in the fifth, Gil Coan's second three-run homer led a five-run Washington rally in the ninth inning of the opener.

Coan, the Nat's leading hitter, knocked in six of the nine runs in the opener. The visitors kayped Vic Raschi in the ninth and Lefty

Joe Ostrowski took over with a 5-5 tie prevailing.

Top Talent In Shawnee Meet

Shawnee-on-Delaware — Five of the country's top male three-meter board divers have accepted invitations to compete in the third annual Shawnee Invitation swimming championships at the Shawnee Inn pool here Sunday, July 15.

John Connors, Baltimore, and Jimmy Russell, Washington, winners of the 1949 and '50 titles respectively are included in the quintet already accepting invitations. Connors went on to win the national crown following his victory here in 1949. Russell was Eastern Intercollegiate champion from Loyola College.

Other Champions
Ralph Trimborn, Michigan University, western intercollegiate champion; Billy Cant, University of Pennsylvania, Middle Atlantic A.A.U. champion and Michael Daly, junior Olympic champion from Baltimore are others who will compete in the three-meter diving event.

Olympic and national champions in other events also will compete in the meet. There will be eight events for men and a like number of events for women.

Sgt. Jaskolka Returns Home From Korea

Mount Pocono—Sgt. Jack A. Jaskolka, veteran of 34 months of action in Korea during which he was wounded, arrived home yesterday for "the greatest Fourth of July" in his life.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack J. Jaskolka here, the sergeant was wounded once, but came out of the hospital to rejoin his Marine buddies and battle another day against the Communists.

Jack left Korea on June 9. He made it home in time to celebrate the anniversary of his country's independence with his family and friends. His long period of action in some of the most difficult engagements of the Korean war make his current interests only the peace and quiet of this community.

Jaskolka was wounded in action on Nov. 3, 1950. He spent two months in the hospital in Japan and returned to active duty in Korea where he served without interruption until he was released to come home on June 9.

After attending schools in Mount Pocono, Jaskolka attended and was graduated from Stroudsburg High school. He enlisted in the Marines right after graduation.

Police Report Collection Of $450 In June

Chief of Police Arthur Swink of East Stroudsburg reported collection of $450 in fine and license monies during June at the July session of East Stroudsburg council Tuesday night.

The officer said $350 in fine money came to the borough along with $50 worth of peddler and circus permits. The remaining $50 represented fines which went to the State.

Chief Swink said violations handled by police during June included:

Twenty stop sign, 15 excess rate of speed, three red light, drunken driving, four disorderly conduct, three drunk and disorderly, no operator's license, no registration plate, operating car without owner's consent, three illegal parking.

tors at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard DeHaven, Nancy Hager, Verona, N. J., is spending two weeks at the DeHaven home.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lucas, Hyattsville, Md., returned to their home there on Sunday after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Brodell and Mrs. C. N. Beeher.

Mr. and Mrs. George Humphrey left on Sunday for a two week's vacation cruise on the Great Lakes. The Humphrey's daughter, Joyce, is attending Eagle's Nest Farm Camp at Delaware, N. J., and their son, Fred, is attending a camp at Bear Mt., N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Brodell visited their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Tobin, Harrisburg, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schaeffer, of Saylorsburg, called on the Amos Johnson family.

William Eckley returned home from the General hospital, East Stroudsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Mervine and son Warren, Effort, visited Mrs. Mary Kreger.

The Joseph Lawler family, Long Island, are spending their vacation at their summer home here, the former Amos Johnson homestead.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kibler quietly celebrated their fourth wedding anniversary on July 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Kreger and daughter, Meryann, and Dorothea Haydt spent a few days in Bainbridge, Maryland, visiting the former's son, Mitchell, who is at the naval training center there.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stout, Palmerton, called on Mr. and Mrs. Milton Kreimoyer.

Birthday celebrants during the week are: Mrs. C. O. Frable, Mrs. Clinton Craig Jr., Robert Phillips and Chester Frable.

The girls of the 4-H club have named their club the "Jolly Cooks," and have elected the following officers: President, Marion Berger; secretary-treasurer, Luella Smale; game and song leader, Dolores Moyer; news reporter, Ellen Serfass. The girls made muffins and orangeade at their first meeting as their first attempts as cooks. The group will meet each Wednesday at 1:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Berger.

28th Division To Participate In Maneuvers

The 28th Infantry Division, former Pennsylvania National Guard unit, will leave during August and September to participate in the joint Army-Air Force "Southern Pine" maneuvers at Fort Bragg, N. C., division headquarters, has announced at Camp Atterbury, Ind.

An advance detachment will leave this month, followed by the main body of the division which will be transported to North Carolina by troop trains and motor convoys early in August.

Company G of East Stroudsburg, comprising men from all sections of Monroe county, is a part of the 109th Infantry Regiment of the 28th Division.

The office of Dr. E. J. Denning will be closed from July 2 to July 7, inclusive.—Adv.

Joint Camps Hold Meeting

Saylorsburg — The weekly meeting of POS of A Camp, No. 327, was held in the lodge room of the Saylorsburg fire hall. Routine business was conducted and a large number of members were present.

This meeting marked the first occasion that members of former Camp 202 at Effort were present to participate in the meeting; as the State camp had recently approved the merger of the Effort camp with that of Saylorsburg.

District President Amzi F. Altemose was present and gave an interesting address to the members.
